Pets recently immunized are welcome; however, for optimum protection vaccines should be brought current two weeks prior to boarding or grooming. This will allow your pet's immune system time to form antibodies for the highest degree of protection. Proof is mandatory so please bring a statement from your veterinarian.

Most area vets only give the canine Bordetella (canine cough) vaccination upon request. Many vets only give canine Corona virus vaccinations to puppies. Some vets do not give house cats the feline Leukemia vaccination. You can not assume your pet is current on all the required vaccinations. Please check your records prior to arriving. Please discuss your pet's immunization needs with your veterinarian so that together you may choose the best protocol for your pet.

Contagious pets cannot be cared for under any circumstance.
